

financial expose which proposes to improve the national defence has been virtually assailed, because it opens France. Lord John Russell insisted that although there was nothing to justify a war, the nation must be prepared.

The bill to re-open diplomatic relations with Rome has sustained a check, virtually amounting to a defeat. The feeling in England seems to be very strong against the measure, owing to the prejudice against the Pope and the Catholics.

In Italy and the neighboring States, the progress towards constitutional liberty is steady. King Ferdinand has offered Sicily the constitution of 1812, and the insurgents were willing to accept, on condition that the Prince Royal reside at Palermo as Viceroy of Sicily, a regency being appointed during his nonage, and that a Sicilian Parliament assemble at Palermo. To this the King objects, and the matter remains open. Meantime, all the Sicilian fortresses are delivered to the Palermitans; the troops have returned to Naples; and the King has granted a general amnesty to all political offenders save the emigres implicated in the affairs of 1821.

Charles Albert, the wise and liberal King of Sardinia, did not wait for his people to require the grant of a constitution by insurrection or an appeal to arms, but, on the 8th inst., proclaimed a constitution in his dominions. The basis of that constitution is the same as that of France. This change was effected legally, without any commotion, and by the sole force of public opinion.

We learn from Florence that the Grand Duke Leopold, moved by the liberal intentions of which he has already given proofs, and of his own proper movement, has decreed that a representative system shall be adopted for the future as the form of Government in the Grand Duchy.

The Pope has been hard pressed by some of his subjects for a constitution. He was willing to grant the request, but being in doubt whether doing so would not be a violation of his oath on taking the Pontificate, invited a number of theologians to Rome, among whom were Father Ventura and Father Perrone, (a Jesuit,) to give their opinion as to whether it would be in harmony with the rights of the Holy See to grant a constitution to his Roman subjects. The theologians declared unanimously that if such were his pleasure, it was feasible, without prejudicing the inalienable rights of the Pontificate.

The Grand Duke of Tuscany has made known the constitution promised to his people; it is said to be more liberal than that given by the King of Naples. There are to be two Chambers—the one to be called the Senate, of which the members are to be elected for life; the other, the Council General, of which the members are elected.

The sixth article has the following curious proviso:—"The liberty of commerce and industry shall be the fundamental principles of the economical law of the State." Another clause says:—"The law of mortmain is preserved and extended to the whole of the Grand Duchy." All religions are tolerated.

Ina Montez has excited the indignation of the populace and been expelled from Munich. The king of Bavaria interfered for his favorite; but his authority was disregarded, and she had to leave. She sought refuge in Switzerland.

REMARKABLE COINCIDENCES.

The N. Y. Sun in its summary of European intelligence, reminds us of various remarkable coincidences between the late revolution in Paris and the famous three days revolution of July, 1830.

On Sunday, July 25th, 1830, the Ministers, Charles X. presiding, decided upon the famous and obnoxious laws against the freedom of the Press.

On Sunday, February 19th 1848, the Ministers of Louis Philippe decided to oppose the reformist banquet.

On Monday, 26th July, 1830, the ordinances were published, which stifled all Paris. 'The Press entered their protest.'

On Monday 21st February, 1848, the liberal party, headed by Barrot, protested against the measures to oppose the banquet.

On Tuesday, July 27th 1830, the exasperation of the Parisian population was at its height. Crowds assembled and cries of Vive la Chartre! A bas les Ministres! were heard. At half past four P. M. there was a collision between the people and the troops at the corner of Rue St. Honore and Richelieu and barricades were raised.

On Tuesday, February 22nd, 1848, crowds collected and the cry was Vive la Reforme! A bas Guizot! The struggle again commenced at the corner of St. Honore and Richelieu.

On Wednesday, July 28th, 1830, the conflict became general throughout the city.

On Wednesday 23d, 1848, the struggle became serious—it was not an emete but an insurrection.

On Thursday, July 29th, 1830, the fate of the kingdom was decided. Many of the troops joined the people. At half past one P. M., the Louvre and the Tuilleries were in the hands of the people, Charles X. and his descendants were deposed.

On Thursday, February 24th, 1848, one o'clock, the Palais Royal was taken & sacked, and at two o'clock the Tuilleries shared the same fate. The troops joined the people, Louis Philippe, like Charles X., abdicated in favor of his grand son.

In the midst of the Chamber of deputies, surrounded by people, a voice says of the abdication, "It is too late." These same words were used by Orléans Barrot to Charles X. Here the coincidence ceases. In 1830 the people sought a Constitutional King as better than Republics—now they will be content with nothing short of a Republic itself.

The New York Express says it has received a letter from a gentleman in Paris, which states as among the evidences of strong feeling in that city in favor of a republican form of government, that during the progress of the Revolution, the American Flag, (the stars and stripes of the model Republic,) was hoisted in many parts of Paris.

(Correspondence of the Baltimore Patriot—By Telegraph.)

New York, March 17—10 a. m.
Important from China.
Arrival of the Sea Witch.—Shortest passage on record.

The Sea Witch has arrived here from China, making the passage in the very short period of 77 days, believed to be the shortest passage on record.

Four of the murderers of the six Englishmen, of whose brutal massacre accounts have heretofore been received, have been arrested, convicted of the crime, and decapitated. A number of others were implicated as participants, and it was believed would share the same fate. The bodies of the murdered men had been restored to their friends.

On the 29th of December, immediately prior to sailing of the Sea Witch, all was quiet, but very serious apprehensions and anxiety were felt for the future.

The British steamer Pluto had committed terrible havoc and slaughter upon the Chinese pirates, destroying many of their vessels, and killing a large number of their men.

DIED.—At Section Ten, on the 28th of March, John Jasper Nordhoff, aged twenty-one years.

The deceased had just entered upon business for himself in Section Ten, after having been for four years a resident of this village, in the employ of Judge Skinner. His unwearied industry, and unvaried good behavior, won him the esteem of all who knew him, and wakens sincere regret that his career in life was so early ended.

"PROCRUSTATION IS THE THIEF OF TIME."

A truth as solemn as it is important. But it is one, perhaps, that is not fully realized until some woful neglect has caused a long and a painful disease. How necessary it is then to pay attention to the slightest symptoms and to act with promptness and decision in cases which are one of the greatest moment, and immediately procure the right remedy for removing an enemy so fatal to our happiness. We know of "Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry" to be a sovereign remedy for all ymmedbreath and lung affections. It has cured Consumption when so far advanced that patient experienced those miserable sensations caused by the death-like chills which often follow the preparation of the night and morning, the harassing cough, and excoctoration, distressing pains in the chest, and difficulty of breathing, the woe-beg one sinking feelings produced by this disease, when the anxious friends had given up all hope of the patient's recovery; but supposed him hopelessly sinking into an early grave.

Do not procrastinate! but make use of "Wistar's Balsam," and live healthy and happy. See Wistar's treatise on consumption of the lungs. To be had of agent.

HEBREW PLASTER.

READ, and Receive Instruction.

WE would call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of the Hebrew Plaster, and the Jews' Plaster. This is a new and well acquainted with the Hebrew Plaster, having made use of it at the East for a very long time, and it is also efficacious in removing warts, skin eruptions, &c. We do not design to put this medicine in a few recent cases, where it has effected a cure. Mr. Sloan, of Zanesville, after having suffered with Rheumatism for nine years, was cured by using the Hebrew Plaster.

Is becoming one of the most popular medicines now before the public. For removing all sores, such as Rheumatism, pain in the back, side or breast, it has no equal in the world. It is also efficacious in removing warts, skin eruptions, &c. We do not design to put this medicine in a few recent cases, where it has effected a cure. Mr. Sloan, of Zanesville, after having suffered with Rheumatism for nine years, was cured by using the Hebrew Plaster.

Mr. Anderson, of Putnam, was troubled for a long time with a lame back, occasioned by overlifting, was cured by using this plaster. A man (name not recollected), of Gratiot, in Licking County, was entirely cured of rheumatism by using this plaster.

The following certificate from Mr. Worstell, editor of the Mountain Gazette, was furnished us:— Messrs. Fowler & Co.:—During last winter and spring I was so troubled with a Pain in my breast, as to render me unfit for the duties of the office; and, during your Jew David's, or Hebrew Plaster, highly recommended for similar cases, I was induced to give it a trial: I had worn of plaster for a week but a short time, when all pain left me, and I was enabled again to engage in the duties of the office.—Massillon, Nov. 12, 1845. J. P. WORSTELL.

Messrs. Comstock & Co.:—About six years ago, I received a hurt, which broke two of my ribs; since then I have been most of the time unable to do any work, for a severe pain in my side and breast. I had despaired of ever being cured, having already paid enough to doctors to pay for a good farm, and received no benefit. But thanks to the Jew David's, or Hebrew Plaster, I am now well. About six weeks ago, I was transported, I heard an agent of yours recommending the Hebrew Plaster, and was induced to buy a box, and the result was as I have stated. I would also state that I have a daughter who for two years has been unable to work for a pain in her side, and a general prostration of strength, who also applied a plaster to her side, and at the same time made use of the

HONEY-COATED PILLS.

She is now nearly well, and improving rapidly. Yours, CALER HARRISON.

Each box contains sufficient to cure 6 or 8 patients.

Price 50 cents per box.

TO THE PEOPLE OF OHIO.

Since issuing the call for a convention of the people of the State, to meet at Columbus on the 20th of April next, such expressions of public sentiment have been received from various parts of the State, that we have deemed it advisable to change the time for holding the convention. For the purpose of giving more time for the most distant counties to act in this most important matter, the period for the meeting of the convention, is hereby deferred till Wednesday, the 10th day of May next.

And to prevent any misunderstanding as to the manner of choosing the delegates, it is recommended that the democratic party of each county of the State, respectively assemble at a convenient time and place to be designated by the county central committee; and appoint one delegate for every 1000 votes given for Governor by the whole people composing said county at the State election in October, 1844, and one additional delegate for any fractional vote over 500, and at least one delegate for any county in which said vote at said election was less than one thousand.
